DECEMBER 2021

Adopted as Manitoba's official bird in 1987, the great gray owl is the largest owl in North America with a wingspan of 4 feet. They are mostly owls of the boreal forest, but in some years they move farther south in search of food, giving a unique opportunity to see this majestic owl.

JANUARY 2022

It is unusual that Canada has no national bird, the recommendation of the gray jay was announced in November 2016. Canada jays live year-round on permanent territories in coniferous forests, surviving in winter months on food cached throughout their territory in warmer periods.

MARCH 2022

The raven was adopted as Yukon's official bird in 1985. It is a very intelligent bird and an opportunistic feeder, feasting on everything from carrion to groceries left in the back of pick-up trucks. The raven is called "crow" by Yukon First Nations people and is the subject of many stories passed from generation to generation.

Ontario

APRIL 2022

Ontario adopted the common loon as its official bird on June 23, 1994. Found in lakes and rivers, the loon's eerie call is associated with the beauty and solitude of Ontario's wilderness. The loon can dive to depths of up to 70 metres in search of food, and stay under water for 3 minutes.
